STATUES OF LIMITATIONS

The Warner Bros. Studio Store on scenic Staten Island, NY (conveniently located opposite the Fresh Kills landfill — the largest garbage dump in the world!) was the setting for the unveiling of two new limited edition MAD products: An Alfred E. Neuman statue, looking curiously like Humphrey Bogart in Casablanca, and matching Spy Vs. Spy statues! On hand to welcome and sign autographs for several hundred MAD fans who sadly had nothing better to do on a Thursday night (Friends was still in reruns) were MAD co-editors Nick Meglin and John Ficarra, MAD art director Sam Viviano and Spy Vs. Spy sculptor Tony Cipriano. The statues are exclusive to Warner Bros. Studio Stores around the country, so hurry and get yours now before they end up in the Fresh Kills landfill!

THE ANSWER MAD

In yet another installment of our much beloved feature answering letters of other magazines, we give you this pearl from Spin magazine's August 1999 issue.

Frankly, I am disappointed. Do you know what is bothering me? Narcissistic punkrocker critics who constantly put down any band/group/singer that have anything to do with pop music. I personally adore punk music; my favorite band is Rancid. But, do you know what? My second favorite band is 'N Sync! I have reached an impasse on my journey to defend 'N Sync, and groups like them, simply because no one will listen to my logic. Do you ever stop to listen to 'N Sync? Or do you automatically laugh them off? Do you realize they actually have talent? You need to stop judging 'N Sync by their screaming fans (who, most of the time, only worship 'N Sync for their bodies and bleached hair) and start judging them by their actual musical ability, like their true fans do. Just because they happen to have synchronized dance moves does not mean that they aren't good. If 'N Sync, B*Witched, etc. are really that bad, people wouldn't buy their albums, just the posters, so they could look at them. Think about that.

L.S., Annapolis, MD

L.S. — Ooo, good argument. Americans are well known for not buying crap! It's their insatiable passionate yearning for high quality that's led to the success of: Broadway's Miss Saigon, Jenna Elfman, The Waterboy, MAD on CD-Rom, MAD on T.V., MAD Magazine, T.G.I. Friday's, Chicken Soup For The Soul, Family Circus (excluding ones that Billy draws), Sinbad, AOL, Pokémon, Hanson, Richard Simmons' Deal-A-Meal, Richard Simmons' Sweatin' To the Oldies and the Hard Rock Cafe! —Ed.

THE MEASURE OF AMANDA

I just love your magazine! So does my dad! I'm 10 years old and I'll be turning 11 the 25th of October. As a faithful reader I buy MAD Magazine as much as I can. Since I love your magazine and I try to buy every issue, I was wondering if you would give me a subscription to your wonderful magazine. Thank you for bringing so much laughter into my life!

Amanda Patton, Indianapolis, IN

Mandy — It's rare that we receive a letter so heartwarming and uplifting as yours. We are enormously grateful and happy that you enjoy reading MAD and we hope you will continue to do so in the future. We were also delighted to learn of your birthday and hope that you had the most special of special days. We only wish we could have been there. As for your request for the free subscription to help celebrate your birthday — no way! —Ed.

Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™

This letter is written for your consideration for the Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™. I used to live at Britannia House in Douglas. Last year I moved from room 24 to room 23. Shortly after I moved into room 23 I discovered I had a neighbor living in the hotel opposite who brightened my life during the time she lived there. She had a habit of standing in front of the window in her underwear. I never knew her name or even who she was but she had an effect on me. Naturally I missed her when she moved out before Christmas. I'm not trying to trace her. I daresay if she read this letter it would put her off me anyway. It's just that if somebody brings a bit of happiness into your heart, why not let it be known? You've guessed it, I'm a sad loser, but this is Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™.

Ian Ellis, Great Britain

Ian you freakin' bloody English perv — Thanks for your letter, BUT WHAT'S YOUR BLOODY WISH? HERE'S THE DEAL — WHEN YOU WRITE TO THE Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™ YOU GOTTA HAVE A DUMB WISH! WE READ YOUR LETTER 12 BLOODY TIMES AND WE COULDN'T FIND A BLOODY WISH! HERE'S OUR WISH, AND IT'S NOT EVEN DUMB! WE WISH THAT WHEN YOU AND OTHER NIMRODS WRITE YOU'D INCLUDE A WISH! Cheerio and God Save The Queen! —The Ed. of Wales.

The Fifth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States declares "No person (shall) be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb..." Hopefully, that means the people at Paramount won't write, produce, distribute, and make us suffer through another turkey as bad as...

I'm Slick Parcels, a rich and influential financier! I'm raising money here to help underprivileged school kids by buying expensive fine art and hanging it in my estate! Then I encourage the underprivileged kids to look at the paintings through my window once a month for a culturally uplifting experience! Call me a humanitarian, call me a softie...it's just my nature!

I'm Agree, the Parcels' best friend! I work on Slick's school charity, too! I'm a schoolmistress! I teach at school, and do my mistress duties whenever Slick's wife isn't around!

I'm Livid Parcels, Slick's wife! Slick said he's going to buy me a $200,000 sailboat with some of the money he's raising tonight! I didn't think that was ethical, but Slick said I earned it with all the work I did, and I guess he's right! I hand wrote all the nametags for this fundraiser! Over 50 of them! That's in addition to all the work I do at home! I'm responsible for hiring our cooks, maids, gardeners and handymen! But hey, everyone has their burdens to bear!

I'm Motley, the kid! Having wealthy parents means I get a very healthy allowance, but I don't spend any of it! I'm saving up to buy a personality! With some expert financial advice, maybe I can invest some of it and get myself a life!

I'm Travesty Laymen! I was a down-and-out lawyer, but then I got my act together and became a down-and-out probation officer! I really don't belong in this movie! Many critics were asking what the hell I was thinking when I agreed to appear in this dreck, but I can't help myself! I hear the word "FUGITIVE" and I show up!

I'm Vice-President Al Gore, and I was roommates with Tommy Lee Jones at Harvard! Why am I here? I was asked to break some bad news to my old roomie! Tommy, don't clear any space on the mantel for an Academy Award! You're stiffer in this flick than I am in real life! Yeah, THAT stiff!

DOUBLE JERKERY

ARTIST: MORT DRUCKER

WRITER: DICK DEBARTOLO

Honey, now do you see why I love sailing? The waves lapping the hull, the wind in the sails, the blood on the teak...wh - wha - what the hell?!

There's blood everywhere, and my husband isn't anywhere on board! And I'm holding the bloody knife that must have killed him! Could it get any worse?

This is the Coast Guard, drop the knife, you murdering bitch!

I had to ask!

I hate to tell you this, Livid, but you're being charged with your husband's murder! I have to take you in!

Have a heart! Don't handcuff me in front of my child!

Oh, sorry...

Hey, kid! Turn your head while I handcuff your murdering old lady!

Thanks, now he won't be so traumatized!

It looks bad! You just took out a $2 million insurance policy on your husband, and now he's dead!

So what? Lots of women take out policies on their husband's life!

Yeah, but yours has a clause that says you get double if your husband's stabbed to death on a sailboat! Triple, if it's in the fog!

It was Slick's idea! He insisted that "Stabbed at Sea" was a standard insurance clause!

Motley, Agree is going to adopt you, but when this is over, we'll be together again!

Great! When you're free we can play Old Maid for real! You'll be about 80 years old when you get out for killing daddy!

Honey, I think about you all the time! Do you think about me?

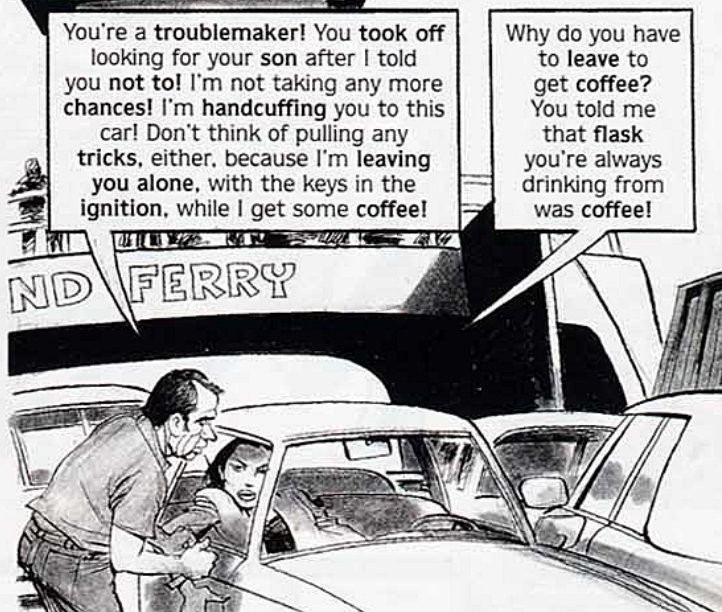

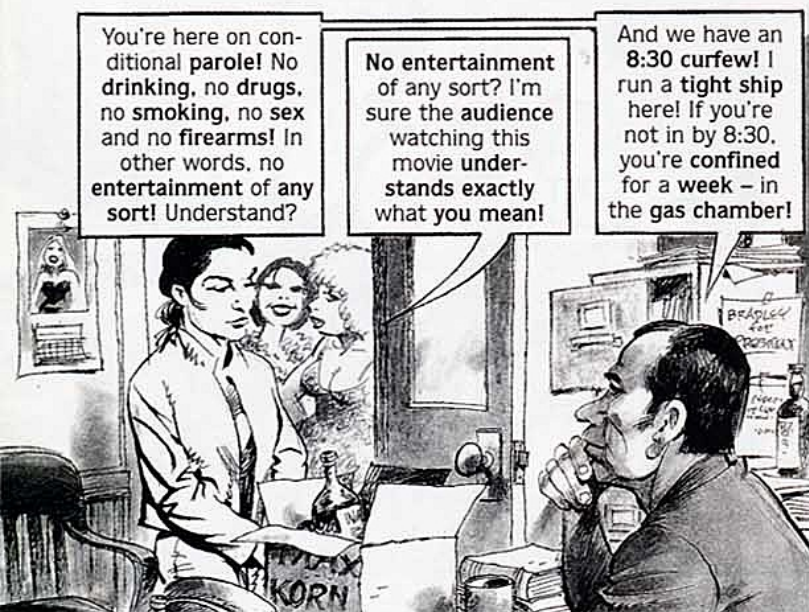

Yes, I do, Mrs. Mommy! "Mrs. Mommy"? I sense a little distance between us here!

I have to go, Mrs. Mommy - daddy's here! Daddy?! Daddy's dead!

Daddy told me YOU were dead! Wow! Talk about your dysfunctional families!

I tracked down your paintings and they led me to you! And all the time, I was ducking the police!

Why didn't you just tell the police that I'm alive? They would've arrested me, freed you, and given Motley back!

Because I'm determined, not smart! You can keep your wealth, all I want is Motley!

Wow, "not smart" is an understatement! No money, just the bratty kid! Meet me at the cemetery and you can have him! You won't believe how rotten he's become with no mother to teach him right from wrong! It's all your fault!

Are-are y-y-you my son?

No, I'm Cole Sear from The Sixth Sense! I spend all my free time in cemeteries, because I see dead people!

Where am I? Let's see... I met Slick at the cemetery! He must have knocked me unconscious, and put me in a coffin to die! But if I'm going to die, a coffin is a good place to do it! You know, even with all Slick's faults, he is thoughtful sometimes!

Party's over! For a dead man, you seem pretty lively, Slick!

Ha! My name is no longer Slick, so you can't hold me!

You can change your name, but I've got a copy of your fingerprints!

I also changed my fingerprints! When you're rich, anything's possible!

Damn! We have nothing to hold him with, Livid!

No, I've got something that'll hold him! A couple of bullets in vital places!

Yep, that'll do the trick!

Yay! We're one big, happy family again... um, where's daddy?

You know how I say you should never lie?

Yes!

Well, for a long time your daddy lied! He made people think he was dead!

That's terrible!

Good news! Your daddy just became an honest man...and I pulled the trigger!

Sorry, Livid! Re-killing your husband was fine, but you're going back to jail for driving cars off the ferry, credit card fraud and wrecking school property!

B-b-but who'll take care of my son?

Motley, say hello to your new dad! Whaddya say we go down to the bar and knock back a few to celebrate!

Once upon a time, they truly believed "All you need is love." But yesterday's hippies are today's senior citizens with failing eyesight, arthritic knees and all the aches and pains that come with living too long. Sure, they need love, but what they need even more are these...

Steal This Book (Large Print Edition)

A myopia-friendly, giant-type version of Abbie Hoffman's yippie classic. In this revised edition, however, the phrase "Off the Pig!" is the title of the chapter that teaches your parents to cut their serum cholesterol level by eliminating pork from their diets.

Also available in a special hard-of-hearing audio edition as shouted by The Who's Pete Townshend.

BILL WRAY

Lately it seems you can't turn on the news without hearing some horrible story about a building being bombed, a postal worker going "postal," a group of students shooting up a school. And every time there's a bloody rampage, we try and make sense of it all. Well, some people have succeeded! They've made sense of it — for them. And perhaps there is something we can learn from their wisdom. That something is "Move to Iceland!" But before you go, find out ...

HOW VARIOUS PEOPLE

TELEVISION ANCHORS

Before asking the parents of a daughter whose face was shot off, "How did it feel to identify your only child at the morgue?" anchors will consult with a TV psychologist to see how asking them how they feel about their feelings will make them feel.

WILL REACT TO ## NEWSPAPER EDITORS

Will immediately publish their "We must take steps to prevent another tragedy like this from ever happening again" editorials again.

HIGH SCHOOL JOCKS

In an effort to improve strained relations with the nerdy sullen outcasts, will try not to use the toilets before shoving the geeks' heads inside and flushing.

LOCAL FLORISTS

Will voluntarily agree to not greedily jack up prices 400% just because everyone within 150 miles feels compelled to buy a bouquet of flowers to leave on the sidewalk somewhere. (They'll only jack them up 200%.)

VIDEO GAME DESIGNERS

"WEIRD AL" YANKOVIC

Will show that it is possible to mix comedy and tragedy by releasing the moving tribute ballad, "Pretty Fly for a Dead Guy."

PRESIDENT BILL CLINTON

To show that he remains a dynamic problem-solver, will personally counter the threat that gun violence poses to America's children by symbolically biting his lip once for each victim.

GUN MANUFACTURERS

Because our Constitutional framers clearly intended for 400-round Uzi assault weapons to be readily available to any eight-year-old, they cannot agree to any plan that might slow gun sales. But as a conciliatory gesture, they will put little "Warning: Shooting Someone Through the Head May Be Hazardous to Their Health" stickers on all shoulder holsters.

THE NEXT RANDOM ACT

TALK SHOW COMMENTATORS

Will go on as many TV shows as they can to discuss how movies, music and videogames have numbed an entire generation of children to the effects of violence. However, they will not explain why these same emotionless automatons who've been brain-washed into having no feeling about violence all seem to be so upset by it.

Will educate their audience to the very real results of brutality by having a peppy lizard named "Evac" dance out to hose down all the brains and splatter between screens.

OF SENSELESS VIOLENCE

Oh those hip, trendy, media-savvy emotionally unstable teens of the WB Network! Who doesn't aspire to be more like them? After all, if history has taught us anything, it's that nothing but good can come from mindlessly imitating the actions of whomever we see on TV! So, if you want to be the next Dawson, Buffy or Felicity, first, change your name to something really stupid-sounding and then bone up on...

MAD's Eight-Step Guide

- 1 During any argument with a prudish, super-religious grandmother, you MUST use the word "penis" at least five times for shock value.

- 2 Make sure to correctly ascertain whether your date is an actual vampire or just a "really yucky guy" BEFORE impaling him on a two-foot wooden stake.

- 5 When attending a somber occasion, such as a funeral, be thoughtful and show respect — wear a below-the-crotch-skin-tight mini-dress that reveals slightly less cleavage than usual.

- 6 When having an affair with a teacher, it is considered bad form to request a higher grade in addition to the sex.

3 Out of courtesy for your fellow students, keep your noisemaking to a minimum when using the library stacks area for having sex.

4 Before inviting a pregnant teen or homeless person to stay with the family for the night, check to see how many siblings and/or parents are doing the same – to avoid overcrowding.

7 A simple apology is sufficient after totally messing up your twin sister's life by impersonating her – even if you do it every other week.

8 After losing an election for Student Council and/or Homecoming Queen, be a good sport – don't sic a flesh-eating zombie on the winner.

What do Boyzone, 'N Sync, C*Note, 5ive, 98° and Backstreet Boys have in common?

Well, actually, everything! These dancin' prancin' pin-up pop posses are 100% interchangeable!

Quick Quiz #1: Would anyone notice if Ben from 'N Sync replaced Alfredo from 5ive?

Quick Quiz #2: Does anyone know if there even IS an Alfredo in 5ive?

And Question #3 (the most important of all): How do YOU get in on this gravy train of cash?

Remember, there are hundreds of millions of squealing sixth-grade girls who love these hunks of the month (okay, and a few sixth-grade boys, but let's not get into that right now), and their baby-sitting money has to go somewhere — might as well be your pocket! So why not make a couple o'million by letting MAD show you...

HOW TO BECOME A BIG-TIME BOY BAND PRODUCER!

LESSON 1

NAME THAT NAME

Each member of the band needs a short, punchy first name. Two syllables is sometimes okay, but one is much, much better. Remember the mental capacity of your audience.

Good Names include:

Mick Lance
Hank Chip
Ferry Theo

Bad Names include:

Alouicious Skeezix
Xerxes Hieronymus
Chiang-Tse Hecky
Lumpy

BONUS TIP:

It's always extra cool if two of the guys share the SAME name. Fans will differentiate them by a last initial, such as Rick T. and Rick G. Plus, only having to remember four first names instead of five will ease the pressure on your fans' brains!

LESSON 2

DIVIDE AND CONQUER

Although boy bands have five guys apiece, there are many more than five different types of personalities to choose from. There are seven:

"TEEN DREAM"

"SASSY REBEL"

"QUIET SHRINKING VIOLET"

"DANGEROUS TROUBLEMAKER"

"MACHO MAN"

"OLDER BROTHER"

"DEWY-EYED YOUTH"

Whatever you do, don't select a boy with a personality that doesn't fit in. "Psychotic Loner," "Flatulent Oktoberfester," "Illegal Immigrant" or "Triple Amputee" may be fresher characters, but trust us, no 12-year-old girl is going to put their poster on her ceiling where it can leer down at her! Stick to the classic archetypes. Uniqueness kills.

No one boy should be the "star" of the group. Your band should look as if it's just five cool guys hanging out, with no one dude any cooler than the other four. That way, girl fans will see them as "approachable." But more importantly, if one of the pretty boys ever gets out of line, you can pink-slip his replaceable ass.

Another big advantage to breaking up the duties into five equal parts is that five singers only have to handle one line at a time. This lets you keep really dumb guys in the band even if they can't remember too many words at once, as long as they look great in tight pants.

LESSON 3

DEVELOPING YOUR REPERTOIRE

Heyyy, good catch, Beethoven! Your soon-to-be fans are tremendously interested in cardiovascular love. Very, very few hit ballads have been written about lungs.

Look at the song titles on hit albums by BSB, 'N Sync, 5ive and the rest. It's Boy Band Law that each album has 12 song titles, and that these 12 titles must include three "Heart"s, four "Love"s, two "Girl"s, two "All"s and an "Everybody" or an "Everything." Whatever titles are left over should be "We'll Be Together Forever," or "Heaven is Forever," or "Forever Together," or some syrupy slop like that. Be sure to throw in parentheses on at least one title to sound impressive.

Just fill in the middle with "yeah"s and "ooh"s and "ooh yeah"s. It's a little-noticed fact that there are only 50 or 60 words in all the lyrics on a boy band album, combined!

But whichever twelve songs YOU end up using, it's got to come from the soul! Tell the boys to close their eyes, imagine they're opening their hearts, squeeze out all the special feelings they have inside...and then crank out whatever words written by music company hacks-for-hire that you tell them to sing. Recording studios charge by the hour, you know!

See if you can tell what these ACTUAL beefy-bopper song titles have in common:

- Tearin' Up My Heart.
- True To Your Heart.
- I'll Never Break Your Heart.
- Quit Playing Games with My Heart

The single best title a boy band could ever have is this. A song with this title would top the charts for 6 months...except sadly, there is no possible singable melody.

BONUS TIP:

The title "Together (Forever)" isn't taken...yet.

LESSON 4

INTERCONTINENTAL CHAMPIONS

American teenage girls like to think of themselves as complicated rebels...before they go out and buy the exact same stuff everybody else has! The dopes who listen to this kind of junk need a clear signal that your music is what they want to hear. And goodness knows you can't count on how it sounds to accomplish that!

Before hitting big in the USA, top boy bands need to be huge in other countries. Why?

Play up the "global smash" angle. For instance, before they ever infected the U.S., the Backstreet Boys were big in Germany, and 'N Sync had early hits in England. Be sure to let America's young'uns know that the rest of the world just loves your boys to pieces.

Unfortunately, the rest of the world probably doesn't give a camel's ass whether they live or die. So you'll have to lie. Claim that they're already top superstars in Tonga, Equatorial Guinea, Azerbaijan, etc. Or make up fake country names such as "Middle Cannolia," "The Duchy of Beckles," "Costa Frascarr" or "The Republic of Gzxltptwq." By the time anyone exposes your fraud, your band will have already had its four hits and be done. Remember, in boy bands, it's here today, gone later today.

LESSON 5

THE PUBLICITY GAME

The key to any successful band is to promote, promote, PROMOTE! Sounds rough, right? Don't worry, you only need to know two basic strategies...

STRATEGY ONE

Continuously talk over each other's sentences. This causes such confusion that no one can be offended by any statement.

STRATEGY TWO

While one singer discusses how "there's a lot more hard work to this job than most people realize," the other four should stare at him seriously while nodding, as if he's announcing the cure for AIDS.

Fans like to feel a connection to their idols. So only tell them what they want to hear! Even if your boy banders only use the computer to download hot Asian porn, they should say that they love all the fan websites, and even check in every so often. If one of the members has a soundproof bedroom so no one can hear his victims' cries for help, he should say that he just likes "spending a quiet night with that special someone." If he's so whacked out on heroin that he wakes up facedown in crusty vomit, he should say that his pet's name is Scooter, and that his favorite movie is Titanic.

BONUS TIP:

Of course, sometimes fans make that extra effort. For those exciting "up close and personal" stairwell encounters that last five minutes, it's always a classy, gentlemanly touch to tell the skank she's "special." Band members should claim that she's the inspiration for a song on the next album and the part where they go, "Yeah, yeah, woo yeah" is for her.

LESSON 6

CAREFULLY NUDDGE THE ENVELOPE

The critics gripe that boy bands are formulaic. But when you take five theoretically talented young men, put them in identical outfits, and drill them like army rats at West Point, the sparks have GOT to fly.

To fulfill one's potential as a performer, they gotta stay in touch with their spontaneous side. Exactly 43 minutes into your Friday night stage show, one member might yell, "Let me hear you scream, Miami!" But the next night, he should feel totally free to change this to "Let me hear you scream, Orlando!" At the 43-minute mark, of course; let's not go completely nuts. But that sort of freewheeling improvisation is what makes or breaks a live performance.

Speaking of which, onstage banter is a crucial way to interact with your young fan base. And the "grabbers" you shout in-between songs may decide whether your band is just a flash in the pan, or whether it can last the whole eight months of superstardom.

BONUS TIP:

NEVER be afraid to let your boys grow as artists. Just because the blond guy is second-from-the-right in the video, there's no reason why you can't put him second-to-the-left when they're on stage! True inspiration should never be shackled.

IT'S THE STYLING GEL, STUPID

Directing music videos is easy, because there are only two types of shots. The ones showing all five guys dancing and posing, and the close-ups of each member pretending to feel emotion. Here's a handy guide to the poses you'll need to put in every one of your videos:

Squatting In A Deep Knee Bend
(AKA The "Taking A Dump In The Woods" Pose)

Holding Both Fists Up Next To Your Face While You Scrunch Up Your Face
(AKA The "Which Hand Has The M&M?" Pose)

All Five Boys In A Circle. Three Stand Still While The Other Two Switch Positions
(AKA The "Red Rover, Red Rover, We Call Jordan Over" Pose)

Straddling A Chair Backwards
(AKA The "So I Like Rubbing Against Chairs, Is That So Wrong?" Pose)

The "Leaning Over And Making A Face Into The Camera" Pose.
(NOTE: This one is great for conveying a totally wild sense of humor. After all, what could be funnier than getting too close to a camera lens? Har har! Priceless!)

The "Sadly Turned Away From The Camera" Pose
(NOTE: This one conveys tremendous emotional impact — and is great for when one of the boys has a juicy zit on one cheek the day of filming)

The "All Five Guys Looking Down At The Camera" Pose

The "All Five Guys Looking Up At The Camera" Pose

BONUS TIP:

For your cheap concert videos, have several shots of all the girls in the audience choking for air with tears streaming down their faces by pumping onion fumes into the crowd! Raw sewage under the seats also gets those sinuses flowing!

EVERYTHING IS FOR SALE

You know when boy bands appear on TV and say "it's all about the music"? That's a load of Backstreet Bullcrap! Most bands don't make squat on the music. It's all about the merchandising, baby! Your potential for sweet, sweet profit is limited only by your imagination and inconvenient sense of morality!

Posters! T-shirts! Videotapes! Stickers! Why do you think the boys make sixteen clothes changes per music video? Because every shirt, cap and medallion is in the catalog! (And you can charge $9.95 for the catalog.) After all, who WOULDN'T want to own a replica of the windbreaker that Howie wears for eleven seconds in the Don't Stop the Love video?

LESSON 9

IT'S SO HARD TO SAY GOODBYE TO YESTERDAY

And when the act goes sour, schedule a "concert tour" to a certain country with non-policed organ donor laws. You can get a lot more cash than you might suspect for five healthy livers and ten kidneys...

BONUS TIP:

...Just make sure the boys' plane tickets are one-way.

WHOLE LOTTO LOVE DEPT.

It goes like this: First, a state Lotto Jackpot begins to swell and Lotto Fever spreads among regular players like an STD at a Turkish bath! The jackpot grows, and soon, even members of the Dom Perignon set are trying to decide which combination of their children's birthdays are "lucky"! Finally, the media catch hold of the story and feed us the same lame-ass reports they did LAST TIME the jackpot went up! If your state sponsors a game of chance, then odds are you've seen each of the...

Wow - 4.5 million a year for the next twenty years! That'd be a pay cut for you, huh, Chuck? Ha-ha!

Yeah, ha-ha. $@!# you, bitch!

You hear roughly 2.7 "happy talk" jokes per newscast about how the senior anchorperson's salary is so huge, he doesn't need to play Powerball!

...so as you can see, you have a better chance of being eaten alive by a shark, getting hit by lightning or killed in a plane crash than winning the jackpot!

The local news runs the same stupid interview with the same bonehead math professor with the same list of "10 things more likely than winning the lottery!"

I don't care HOW bad you have to go - we ain't stoppin'! You kids wanna get rich or not?!

OBVIOUS

BITTER

Why don't you go ask your no-good, philandering father or one of his bimbos!

MIXED-UP

You see, Billy, when a man loves a stork very, very much...

POOR EXAMPLE

I think this Michael Douglas movie should explain it all for you!

When Ellen was cancelled in 1998, did you say to yourself, "Gee, I wish there were ANOTHER sitcom that's totally indistinguishable from all the other cookie-cutter half-hour comedies on the major networks except for the lone fact that it features a gay main character whose name is also in the title"? You did? Then your wish has been answered by...

I'm Wilt Trauma! Since so few people watch our show, we need to introduce ourselves! I'm bright, I'm fun, I'm charming! And I have something that makes me a social outcast in today's society...I'm a lawyer! Oh, I also happen to be gay! The phrase "legal briefs" comes up much too frequently in these episodes!

I'm Craze! I live with Wilt! We have this cozy little dysfunctional arrangement! I'm straight! He's gay! I've traded in sex and excitement for Merlot and witty little Advocate references! We have tons of mutual interests! We both watch The View on TV, we take the Cosmo quiz and we love to rent chick flicks - like My Best Friend's Wedding, the premise of which we borrowed from to create this series! Unfortunately, we only borrowed the premise and not the charm or humor!

I'm Crabbin! Craze's assistant at her design studio! A job similar in importance to being Andre Agassi's hair stylist! I'm incredibly wealthy! I don't have to work for a living but in this series I do! My character: an outspoken, crude, rude rich bitch! Sort of trailer trash with a trust fund! How do you like me so far? Who freakin' cares?! I have nails to do! Move on to the next dialogue balloon!

Hi! NBC's pre-show promo press release on this show was, "We neither hide nor make a special issue of the gay content." Really?! Then how do you explain ME!? I'm Shock! I'm gay! I'm a fruitcake in a Key West bakery during Bette Midler Festival Week! My likes: muffin baskets, group hugs, dancing the Salsa naked and men in Speedos! Duh! Wilt and I are just good friends! I haven't "been there, done him" but we do have our special song: "You Are The Wind Beneath My Pants!"

I'm Harrison Ford! I have nothing whatsoever to do with this show! I just thought some of you would like to see what a real man looks like!

I need him in my life! He's edgy, he's bitter and he owns every single Barry Manilow record!

I love this! It's the only show where we can build an episode at the ointment counter!

That's why this series is creating so much industry buzz!

Yeah! You don't find this on Walker, Texas Ranger!

Ha! I've got two jacks!

Read 'em and weepie-weepie! Three queens!

Where?! I don't see three queens!

Meet Chad, Trent and Sean! Currently touring in La Cage aux Folles!

Wilt, we were going to have a nice, quiet supper! What is this?!

Shock's arranged a séance! They are contacting dead gay people!

We must have silence! We want to reach Rock Hudson, but I think we're getting Chris Rock instead!

He's not gay!

He's not dead!

Get him anyway! He's hot!

Shock is starting to drive me nuts! Does he have to stay here?!

You are so Bette Davis in every Warner's feature! He's just a wacky neighbor! Can't you put a positive spin on this?!

Positive spin?!

Think of him as a gay Kramer!

I would strongly advocate employee stock options instead of cash funding!

I have to be honest, Mr. Trauma! When I heard you were gay I had some doubts, but you did a brilliant job on this contract!

Thank you!

Except for clause three! You indicate the contract is legally binding only if the CEO opens each stockholder's meeting by singing The Village People's "YMCA"!

We just got a huge order from the Van Woodrow estate!

Excuse me while I greet that news with a yawn!

This makes no sense! You work for me, yet you come in late, you insult me, you don't answer phones! I don't get it!

That's your problem, honey! You haven't gotten it in months! If you got it you wouldn't be so damn cranky! Perhaps if you fixed your hair! It looks like an exploding yeast infection! You need a shampoo - Breck with Monistat!

Crabbin, it's been five months since I've had any sex!

Wow! Zit-faced McDonald's clerks get more than you! That's gotta change!

I have a plan!

Wilt, do you realize that I'm naked beneath my clothes?

Hmm! That's nice! Do you realize Tommy Tune is six feet two in flip flops?!

Don't I turn you on at all?!

Uh oh! Is this the plot we've seen a gazillion times where the woman tries to convert the gay guy?

Nonsense! Let's talk about it in the bathtub!

Does this do anything for you?

Nothing, nada, zilch!

Nothing?

It's about as exciting as the movie Babe, Pig In The City!

Feeling anything now?!

Yes! I'm feeling seasick!

In the Navy!

Well! Suddenly it's Up Periscope!
